Bold Hi-Jackers, Unmolested, Take $2,700 in Liquor

Break Into Antioch Liquor Store After Closing Time Wednesday Night

Business-like hi-jackers who carried out their foray boldly and with considerable noise removed a quantity of liquor valued, at an estimate, at $2,700 from the Antioch Liquor store Wednesday evening between the hours of 10:30 and 1.

Lake County Sheriff's Deputy Stanley Christian, called in to investigate when the loss was discovered after the store was opened this morning, learned that a panel truck believed to have been of a dark grey color or black, was seen in the alley at the rear of the building at around 1 o'clock.

Neighbors Hear Disturbance

Neighbors reported having heard a disturbance and considerable noise around the place shortly after 11 p.m., but said that they believed the owner, Morris Pickus, might have been engaged in moving stock.

Access was gained through the Scott Dairy company's garage at the back of the store, after the establishment closed for the evening.

The Liquor store had only recently moved into new quarters one door south of its former location at 894 Main street.

Aloys H. Vos, Brother of Local Residents, Dies

Heart Attack, as His Burlington Store Has Grand Opening, Proves Fatal

Stricken with a heart attack Saturday while the meat market he planned to operate in Burlington, Wis., in partnership with Louis Buehler was holding its grand opening, Aloys H. Vos, 50, of Kansaville, Wis., failed to rally and passed away Sunday.

He was a brother of Edmund F., Roman and Cletus Vos, and the late Herbert Vos, of Antioch, and of Mrs. Stanley Szydowski and Mrs. Elizabeth Oldenburg, of Burlington, and Mrs. Lucille Feiereisen, Minneaplis, Minn.

He is survived by his wife, who before their marriage in 1925 was Miss Carrie Schroeder of Chicago, and their two sons, Walter, in the Army tank corps at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., and Donald, who only a week or two before his father's death had entered on a merchant marine officer's training course in San Mateo, Calif.

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vos, he was born in Burlington on August 9, 1893. He received his early education and grew to manhood there, entering the employ of the Wilbur Lumber company, which he left to serve in the first World War. After active service on several battle fronts, he returned to Burlington and re-entered the employ of the Wilbur company.

He left to purchase a grocery store in Springfield, Wis., which he operated for two years.

In partnership with Lawrence Daniels in 1920, he purchased the Cox general store at Kansaville, which they built into one of the best known establishments of its kind in Racine county.

Was Kansaville Postmaster

Shortly after they bought this store, Daniels accepted the postmastership at Kansaville. Vos served as assistant postmaster until 1938, when he became postmaster, continuing to fill that office until his death. During his postmastership, Daniels has acted as assistant postmaster. Three years ago, because of ill health, he sold his interest in the general store to Daniels, although he still served as postmaster.

He was an organizer and charter member of Ross Wilcox American Legion post at Burlington, and served as its first commander. He helped organize the Kansaville fire department, of which he was chief for several years.

Funeral services were held in St. Mary's church, Burlington, Wednesday morning, with the Rev. J. A. Risch, pastor of St. Mary's church of Dover, Wis., of which Vos was a member, officiating. Burial was in the cemetery of St. Mary's at Burlington.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Aishouse and son, Charles, of Gurnee visited the Warren Edwards family Monday afternoon of this week.

Farmers Reminded of June 30 Deadline for Dairy Feed Payments

C. A. Faulkner, chairman of the Lake County AAA committee, has issued a reminder to farmers of the county that June 30 is the deadline for making payments for milk and butterfat produced and sold in February, March and April, 1944. Farmers who are too busy to come to the office at Grayslake may mail in their applications and evidence.

"The county office has received quite a few late applications," he continues. "Because the dairy feed program has been in force for some months, it is expected that farmers will now be familiar with the program and will observe the regulations for filing applications."

"In the event anyone wishes to have further information on the program, the county office will be glad to explain how it works, the payment rates in progress for coming periods, and the closing dates for making applications."

"At present I am attached to a attached to a medical replacement battalion, and I will not be assigned to a tactical unit until I finish my training.

"The training I received while I was with the Antioch Rescue squad has helped me a lot in my training here, but I'll be able to add a few suggestions when I get back. That is exaggerated, but they do give you a thorough training."

Algonquin Man Smoke Victim in Pregenzer Fire

Herbert Struwing, 37, Misses Doorway and Collapses in Side Room

Groping his way into a side room scarcely five feet from an outer exit and safety, Herbert Struwing, 37, of Algonquin, Ill., died early Monday morning as the result of a fire that started in his third floor room at the Pregenzer resort, Grass lake, where he was employed.

His death, attributed to suffocation, was considered a tragic mischance by Fire Chief L. R. Van Patten and Rescue Squad Captain Herman Holbek.

They expressed the belief, shared by residents of the resort, that if Struwing had been able to open or break a window in the room he might have secured sufficient air to survive until he was removed by the rescue squad.

When found, he was lying on the floor by a bed which was just beyond the doorway. He had closed the door of the room behind him and was somewhat shielded from the direct blasts of smoke and heat that rolled down the hall.

Several Rescue Attempts

Several rescue attempts were made before he could be brought out. Capt. Holbek, wearing a gas mask and creeping along the floor of the hallway, succeeded in reaching the door and opening it before his clothing began to catch fire from the heat from burning veneer in the hall, and he was dragged back by other squad members who were standing by with ropes.

Subsequent attempts were necessary before Struwing could be located and brought out.

After he was removed from the building the squad, working in cooperation with Dr. Irving L. Breakstone, labored for two and a half hours to revive him. Three tanks of oxygen were used.

Although the fire had started in his room, he suffered only first degree burns, it was reported. The fact that he had probably inhaled a greater amount of smoke and fumes from the fire than had the other occupants before the alarm was given was thought to have accounted for his possible confusion when he tried to make his way out.

His failure to escape was first noticed when a check was made after the others had escaped, and some of those present reported having heard him calling from the room.

Struwing had been employed at the resort for only two weeks.

Had Three Children

He was a brother of Milton Struwing, postmaster at Algonquin, and a son of Mrs. Minnie Struwing of that city. He is also survived by his wife, from whom he was separated, and three children.

The body was removed to the Strange funeral home, where an inquest was held Monday afternoon, and was afterward taken to Algonquin for funeral services.

Damages from the fire were variously estimated at from $5,000 to $7,000.

The blaze consumed a part of the floor in the room where Struwing had slept, then worked upward into an attic overhead and through to the roof.

Insulation Slowed Fire

The building had been completely insulated three or four years ago, and the insulation and fire stops were given credit by Ray Pregenzer for slowing the progress of the fire.

"I also want to say that I think the fire department and rescue squad did a splendid job, and accomplished all that was humanly possible in carrying out their work," Pregenzer stated.

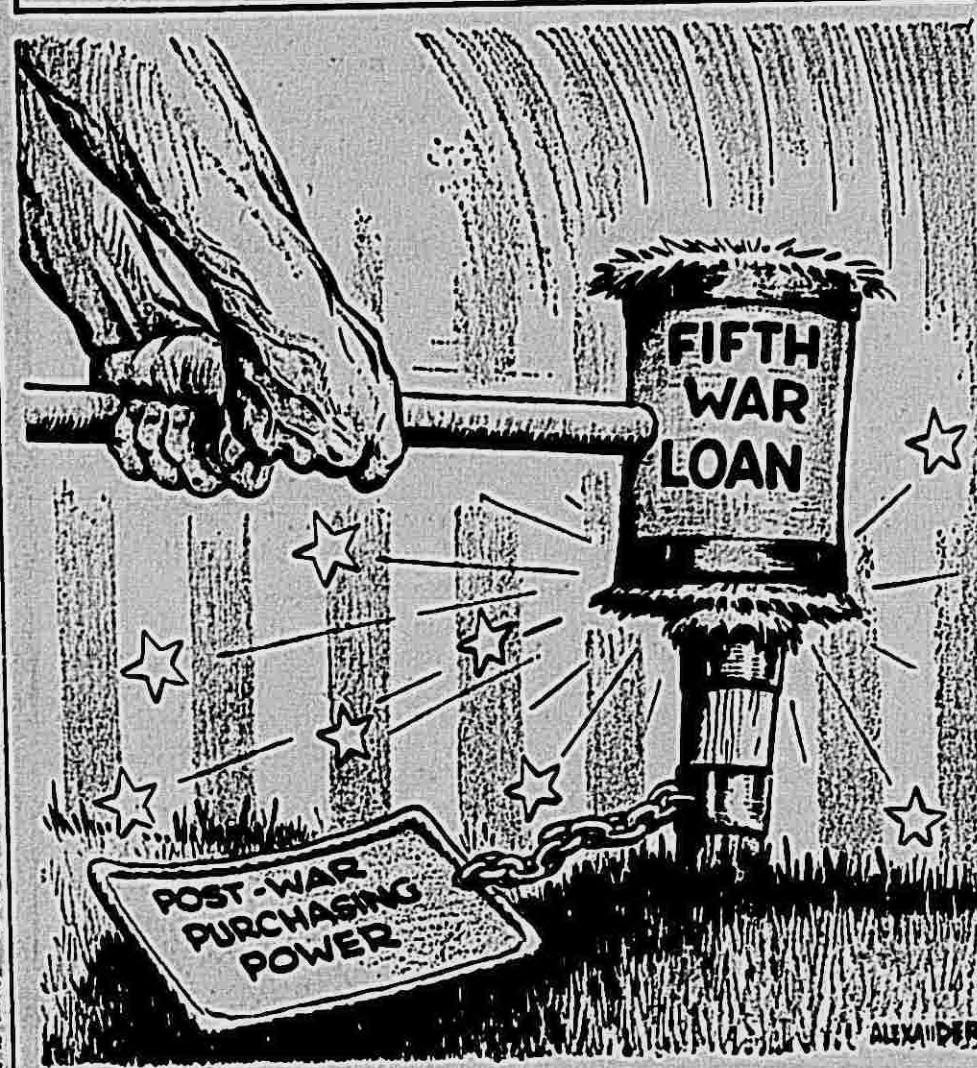

Management of the hotel had been turned over by Pregenzer some time ago to his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pichon, while he retained the management of the bar and dining room, located in a separate building.

Bond Drive to Require Aid of All, Klass Says

Shortage of Canvassers Makes Need for General Co-operation Greater

The co-operation of people throughout Antioch township is being sought by Chairman Otto S. Klass in order to put the Fifth War Loan campaign "over the top" here.

"I would like especially to request anyone who will have time to call on four or five other persons to telephone me at Antioch 53-R, Klass asks.

"We may be handicapped in this campaign, due to the fact that many of the workers who helped to make the previous one so successful are too busy at this time of the year to spare as much time as they have previously."

The drive, Klass points out, will last until July 8.

Persons who are making bond purchases through factories or offices in other localities are asked to report those purchases here, in order that this locality may receive credit for them.

It's a Big Task

Concerning the drive, S. George Little of the U. S. Treasury department's war finance division says, in part, that it "represents the toughest selling job our country has ever faced. A total quota of $16,000,000,000, with $6,000,000,000 to be raised from individuals is a gigantic task."

"Weekly newspapers have done a remarkable job in their support of previous War Loan drives. It is interesting to observe that in the communities where a large volume of sponsored newspaper advertising appeared, War Bond sales reached a higher peak than the over-all national average."

County Firemen to Hold Installation Here Mon., June 25

Moxham, Walsh, Lois Waller Will Take Part in Medinah Program

Well known radio and musical personalities will take part in the concerts to be sponsored here Sunday afternoon and evening, June 25, by the Lake County Shrine club in honor of Fred B. Swanson, who was an organizer of the group and its first president.

Earl Moxham, nationally known band leader, will conduct the famous 110-piece brass band of Medinah temple and is cooperating with Swanson, Illustrious Potentate of Medinah, in arranging the program.

Harry S. Walsh, director of the 50 Medinah chanters who are also to take part, is likewise well known as director of the Northerners, featured over Chicago radio station every Wednesday evening.

Miss Lois Waller, soloist with the Northerners, is to sing in the concerts here. Charles Sears, former radio tenor who has sung over national networks, is a member of the chanters.

Surprise additions to the program are promised by Potentate Swanson.

The concerts are to be presented on the lawn at Antioch Township High school at 3 and 7 p.m.

"This will be a gala day long to be remembered by the people of this community and visitors alike," Swanson predicts.

The Potentate states that he is happy to have the privilege of bringing to his "home town" two of the many uniformed bodies of his shrine temple. He also expressed gratification over the fine cooperation received from President George B. Bartlett and the village board and the offers of all necessary assistance from various local organizations.

More than 2,000 are expected to attend the concerts.

The blind bogey went to C. K. Anderson with Jacobs second. Ray Gruidl received the "booby prize."

A steak dinner was served at 7 o'clock.

Meeting Date Advanced

The date of the Lions' next meeting is being advanced one week and it will be held Monday evening, June 19, in Soper's Spa, Highway 173. (The regular meeting date would have been June 26.)

Arthur Bergman of Chicago, an executive of the Johns-Manville Sales corporation and a public speaker of some note, is to give a talk at that time on "Post-War Planning."

This meeting will close the club year. The new officers who were elected at a recent meeting will assume their duties at the first meeting of the 1944-45 club year, on Monday evening, July 10.

Illinois State Spends $18,640,302 During May

Cash disbursements for Illinois state expenses in the month of May, 1944, were $18,640,302.56, according to final compilations received from the office of Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor of public accounts.

Lake county received $23,256 for 775 beneficiaries of old age pensions. A total of $3,378 was received by 237 beneficiaries of the Aid to Dependent Children program.

What comes after prayer? All of us have prayed—prayed with deep, heartfelt sincerity for our men's success. But after prayer comes action! Buying War Bonds is one thing you can do—and DO right NOW—that will really and actually help!

oo

Can we take it? The men running this war have told us again and again that Victory is likely to come slowly, at bitter cost, and attended by heartbreaks all the way. We must take bad news with good—we must never let up—we must keep doing our job and buying more and more Bonds 'til the day when the last enemy lays down his gun. Let's do just that!

The Shape of Things to Come

The record-breaking flight of the Lockheed Constellation from coast to coast in less than seven hours is not only historic, but is a portent of things to come. The performance graphically illustrates that we will have a more closely knit world and that we must think in terms of time rather than space. Furthermore, it proves that the United States must be ready with the planes and with the fliers, for what we can do, others will do.

According to an analysis published by The Index, quarterly publication of the New York Trust Co., aviation, a 20-billion-dollar industry last year and ranking as the largest in the country, is due for an additional 50 per cent increase in 1944. "In 1934 passenger transportation for the first time represented the source of more than half the total revenue of the airlines—55.2 per cent, compared with 42 per cent for mail and 2.8 per cent for express. Seven years later, the breakdown showed passenger revenue contributing 76 per cent, mail about 21 per cent and express approximately 3 per cent." Total revenues of the air transport companies in 1943 were estimated at 125 million dollars, of which 72 per cent was passenger traffic, 21 per cent mail and 7 per cent express.

These figures reveal a story of unusual progress. Aviation faces a future in which millions of individuals in this country and abroad will have personal knowledge of what airplanes can do as a transport agency; a vast number will know how to fly and repair them, and the general public is convinced that new improvements will soon provide safer, cheaper, more comfortable and more dependable air transportation for a peace-time world. Few industries face such an expansive outlook with such a legacy and such an obligation."

The Issue

"There are two groups in Congress—one which tolerates bureaucracy in government and one which insists that this shall be a government of law and not of men. That is the line upon which most of this controversial legislation is divided. It is a struggle which will determine whether the representatives of the people in Congress shall make the law under which we all must live, or whether in the future we shall live under directives and proclamations and orders made by the executive agencies. And I believe when it is settled that government by law will prevail over government by men."—James W. Mott, U. S. Representative from Oregon.

As Others See It

An Eastern go-getter spied a lazy Indian chief lolling indolently at the door of his tepee somewhere out West.

"Chief," remonstrated the go-getter, "why don't you get yourself a job?"

"Why?" grunted the chief.
"Oh, if you worked hard and saved your money, you'd soon have a bank account. Wouldn't you like that?"

"Why?" again asked the chief.
"For gosh sakes!" shouted the exasperated go-getter.
"With a big bank account you could retire, and then you wouldn't have to work any more..."

"Not working now," pointed out the Indian.—Woodstock Journal.

The full realization of what it means to hear of the people who make up that little town hadn't occurred to me before."

"I surely do miss the friendly little talks with Al and Russ Barnstable and Lew Van Patten. Now do you think they are hitting that White Miller this year, or 'What size shot have you in 16-gauge shells?'

"I miss going into Atkinson's and seeing one master plumber and a car salesman in for 10 o'clock coffee."

"Then a run down to see Otto Klass or to the lumber yard to see Clete, Roman and Ed Vos. Listening in, we hear Frank Spangard and Emil Risch figuring how many 2' x 4's go on that next load, or how much coal Joe Horton ordered."

"Well, so much for reveries. The day is soon coming when we will live and re-live those pleasant memories."

"But until that time, thanks for thinking of us and for sending the paper."

"There are loads of interesting things I could tell you, but that man with the scissors (Beg your pardon, Mr. Censor) keeps us from saying much."

You know now what we've heard from him.

We've heard that Eisenhower and his Americans have hurled themselves like a thunderbolt against the bristling defenses of Hitler's Wehrmacht!

We've heard that they are smashing at our foe—sparing neither steel nor sweat nor blood in one final, furious assault that marks the supreme military effort of this War!

And what news do Eisenhower and his men expect from us?

CHAPTER XXI

"In Australia, the Air Force had to build from the ground up. Before General MacArthur arrived from the Philippines we had located and were building our advance and supply bases all over North Australia from Darwin to Townsville. American engineers were pouring in, and General Brett put them to work. We were also improving Moresby, our problem child, and the Air Force staff had laid down its strategical plan for clearing Australia's northeast shoulder of the threat of Jap air power so that when we had the necessary men and equipment, we could head back into the Philippines."

"The old 19th Bombardment Group was back in business now in North Australia, and beginning in April of that year we were pounding the Jap base at Rabaul in New Britain several times a week."

"Meanwhile the Philippines were tottering. Bataan had fallen; Corregidor seemed about to go; and we were working feverishly to rescue desperately needed Air Force personnel from Del Monte Field on Mindanao. Al Mueller, who was now flying a transport, told me of his last trip in. He said the place looked so shaky he was scared even to be looking that way now. It was a seventeen-hundred-mile flight, and there was a chance that there might not be enough gas left at Del Monte to get him back to Australia. But the pilots, navigators, and ground crews still on Mindanao were worth their weight in gold to us, so Al started out."

"He got right over Del Monte Field. Things looked quiet on the ground, and he was circling, waiting for the signal to come on in, which for some reason seemed delayed. Circling, Al couldn't understand this until from Australia, seventeen hundred miles away, crackles a radio message telling him under no circumstances to land. Corregidor and Mindanao had surrendered to the Japanese while he had been en route."

"There he was, eight hours from home base and with only a few hours' gas left. But luckily he'd provided against this before he left. He'd told the Navy that if the Philippines caved while he was in the air and he couldn't refuel at Mindanao, he'd beach his plane on a little jungle island, and he showed it to them on the map, so they could pick him up if they could get through."

"Now he headed for this island, looked its beach over, and set her down in the surf. The rocks in a few seconds made junk of his big four-motored Liberator."

"Then, according to Al, the days seemed like years, although only five of them passed before a submarine periscope popped up in the cove and carefully scanned the horizon for Jap planes before the craft surfaced to take him and his crew aboard."

"That story got us. It had been bad enough when we circled Malang Field for Anamaet, but these boys on Del Monte were our own. It isn't pretty to fly over and watch the end of a war. There is no noisy death rattle; it's just very still down there. Nobody lights a flare path. The green tower lights don't come on. You know the enemy in his gray uniform is maybe training your own antiaircraft guns on you in the dark, or herding around with bayonets our own unarmed boys in khaki who are listening to your motors, bitter because you couldn't have come a little sooner, or because they couldn't have held them back a few hours more, so they could have been taken out."

"During March the hot spot was Darwin, which the Aussies called the Coventry of Australia because the Japanese had come over on February nineteenth and not only flattened its little town of four thousand but on the airfield wiped out an American fighter group en route to the Java war."

"At that time it was only a little Australian field with almost no antiaircraft. The RAAF boys were good lads, trying hard but getting nowhere, lacking both training and equipment."

"The American fighter group perched on that field, which 'Sluggo' Pell was leading toward Java, had no warning until they heard the sound of the Jap motors. Sluggo wanted to save his planes if he could, so instead of diving for the foxholes (the Japs were already strafing) he tried desperately to get his boys off."

"Sluggo was shot down at 50 feet while his landing gear was still retracting, and before he'd had time to drop his belly tank. He tried to bail out, but of course he was too low. A previous squadron had actually managed to get into the air, but Sluggo's were all either shot down on the take-off or killed in their cockpits before they cleared the runway, or else strafed and set afire while they were taxying into position."

detail. But as the Japs approached their target, our patrols pulled the rest of the American fighter strength off the ground. While one of our flights chased off the accompanying Zeros, the rest of the boys were picking off Jap bombers, which were sliding out of formation and going down trailing smoke. They all had to turn off before reaching the target, dump their bombs in the sea, and head back for their base at Kupang on Timor Island—one of the steppingstones to Java that they'd taken away from us. But Squeeze and his gang followed them out to sea, and shot down every one of the ten bombers. Our boys returned without a man wounded or a plane scratched.

"You know," said Squeeze, "if we don't look out, we're going to make the air a safe place for Americans!"

"And after all those months of defeat, we were almost afraid to believe it. But two days later the Japs came back from Kupang with a real force—thirty-three bombers protected by eleven fighters. Again we were ready. It was a beautiful day, the sky clear as a bell, and again Squeeze tore into the whole Jap V formation far at sea. He attacked in elements, and each time he hit, another Mitsubishi would go spinning down in smoke, or else would sag below the V with engine trouble, lagging so that the next American element could pick him off. We found Jap bombers are lightly constructed, and can't soak up much punishment from our heavy .50-caliber guns—can't take the pounding our Forts can. Meanwhile the second American flight was taking care of the eleven escorting Zeros. The boys had paired off and were whirling over and over in their squirrel cages, a Jap and an American to each cage, while the first flight kept up the heavy cleaver work—chopping into that bomber V from behind, or sometimes going out ahead of it to turn and come in for a bust on its nose. They were forcing it lower—when they'd peel off and come in for a pass, it was fun watching both motors light up."

"A good many Jap bombers got over the target, but you couldn't call it a bomb run. Most of their bombs went wild, as always happens in a disrupted attack, and many others salvoed their bombs in the desert so they could run away. But those which did get over Darwin ran into Bofors ack-ack fire. The battery was operated by an old Crate gang of Aussies—the toughest hombes in the business—and the American P-40's had pushed the Jap bombers so low that the ack-ack could really rip into them. They were between that cleaver in the air and a buzz saw on the ground. Two or three Jap bombers dribbled right down onto the field, whole wings shot off or else blown into confetti. The Japs tried to use their chutes from the burning bombers—which should explode the fairy tale that Japs are too fanatical to use chutes—yet even they caught fire."

"Most of the first Jap bomber flight got over Darwin, but only part of the second, while the third jettisoned its bombs and ran like hell for Kupang."

"Squeeze Wurtsmith had thought of that. He'd put a fresh P-40 squadron into the air with full belly tanks, and it chased the Japs almost halfway home, chewing off a bomber every few minutes. One-third of that Jap bomber strength got back to Kupang, and our boys think maybe one of the eleven Jap fighters may have got home, but they doubt it."

"You see the estimated range of a Zero using belly tanks is about twelve hundred miles. It's five hundred and ten miles from Kupang to Darwin, and to go and return is a thousand and twenty miles. That leaves a tiny safety margin that is more than used up if the Zero has to do any fighting en route, which consumes tremendous quantities of gas."

"Also by first hitting the Japs far out at sea, Squeeze forced them to drop their belly tanks—they can't fight while carrying them—and begin using their precious wing-tank gas long before they got to the target."

"All through the Australian war our fighters must have knocked off hundreds of Zeros which we've never claimed. We fight them until their gas is almost gone, and when they finally break away and start for home, they slide quietly into the sea with dry tanks."

"Those fighters at Darwin are a great gang of kids, and they've invented their own service uniform, which might not pass parade inspection back here. It consists of a long duck-billed hunter's cap, usually red, plus a pair of white cotton shorts and nothing much else. They don't like clothes because of the fire hazard—cloth soaks up spouting gasoline, which will drop off naked flesh. They won't wear ordinary shoes. This started when one of them had to ball out in the desert back of Darwin and when his chute cracked open, the jerk flipped his shoes off. He had to walk barefoot for days over the Australian desert. Now they wear tennis shoes or cowboy boots, which won't flip off. This costume includes a belt, to which is attached a jungle kit on one side and a .45 on the other. The .45 they keep covered with cellophane candy-bar wrappers so it won't rust. They look more like pirates than pilots, and so did the ones at Moresby."

"When General Brett put Buzz in charge of the Moresby-Townsville fighters, he didn't issue an order for Buzz to stay on the ground at his desk in Pursuit Interceptor Command Headquarters at Townsville, but in a nice way he unofficially requested it."

BACK THE 5TH WAR LOAN TO THE LIMIT

REMEMBER the Sicilian invasion? Each mechanized division required 18,000 gallons of gasoline for every hour it was on the move.

Remember the invasion of Italy? The cost to reach the mainland from the time we began the attack in North Africa was 1,800 aircraft lost.

Even when we win, we lose vast stores of guns, planes, tanks and other equipment. For that is the price of victory. The Bonds you bought in the first four War Loan Drives are today's exploding bombs and shells! They can never be used again.

But today the battle is bigger than ever! And that is why you must do MORE!

than you've ever done before in the 5th War Loan.

Buy all you can—and then more! More than you've ever bought before. Invest not only out of current income but out of idle and accumulated funds. This is the biggest job America has ever had to do! Let's show our fighting men we can do it!

OPEN YOUR DOOR AND YOUR HEART TO THE Victory Volunteers

During this drive you may be visited by a volunteer War Bond worker. Let him (or her) explain the various U.S. Government Bonds available. They are the safest investments in the world. Buy them and keep them... and you can face the future with confidence.

The Woman's Society of Christian service will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon, June 21, with Mrs. William Walker at her home east of the village on Grand avenue. Visitors are welcome.

The W. S. C. S. will hold its annual summer sale on Wednesday afternoon and evening of July 26 and a card party and white elephant sale will be held in connection. The committees are already at work planning a pleasant time for you.

Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Beckman from Indiana, Fred Falch and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spamer of Chicago were guests of Ruby and Royal Falch at their home over Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Barnstable, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Barnstable, Edna Barnstable and Jo Ann visited the Moody family in Waukegan last Sunday and helped celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Moody who is the sister of Mrs. Leo Barnstable.

The merchants of the village are sponsoring the free movies at the park on Saturday evenings again this year and the first two shows of the season have had a good attendance.

Mrs. Lorraine Hooper Ellis and son, Jimmy, visited her husband's relatives at Belvidere the past week.

Mrs. C. N. Dunbar of Petite Lake Highwoods left Tuesday for Boston to spend the coming month with her daughter, who has been very ill. Mrs. Dunbar has been caring for her small grandson during his mother's illness and she took him back to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Reinebach entertained the Gene Anderson family, also Mr. Reinebach's brothers and families and his sister, Miss Laura Reinebach, at dinner last Sunday.

Mrs. Maude Test of Mitchell, S. Dak., came last Wednesday to spend a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. John DeVries at the parsonage.

Irvin Barnstable came home Monday from St. Therese hospital where he has been a patient for several days for treatment for a broken arm. He fell from a scaffold while at his work.

Mrs. Raymond Hussey and small daughter have returned home from Victory Memorial hospital.

The Modern Woodman Camp of Lake Villa held an important business meeting at the hall Tuesday evening.

Fireman 2nd class Joe Nader, Jr., who has been at Great Lakes Naval Training station, was home over Saturday and Sunday before going to a new assignment at an electricians' school.

Edward Langbein, fireman 1st class, spent a few days with his wife and baby here and reported for duty in the navy on the east coast.

Mrs. Grant Miller of Chicago spent Sunday with friends here.

Those navy men sure stick together, if this bulletin from L. A. Calif. is any criterion.

An unidentified apprentice seaman's car skidded into a ditch and mired down during a heavy rain. Three more cars drew up and 15 men got out.

They finally hauled the car back onto the highway, but the sailor did not know that his benefactors included two rear admirals, four navy captains, three commanders and six civilian scientists.

One of the scientists who told of the incident, said raincoats concealed the officers' insignia.

—That ain't the way things happen when we get stuck in ditches. Most generally, folks just go by on the other side, like the priest and the Levite. We don't mind that so much... but it sure does get us when they thumb their noses, besides.

State Fire Marshal James Stearns was in the other day with a news item—a bit late. Says he—"Did you know that Lincoln slept in that old mill up at Mukwonago, Wis.? Well, he sure did. He telephoned me and asked me to come up, but I told him I was busy...."

We had a 'nawful dream other night. We dreamed someone brought us a couple inches of nitroglycerine in a qt. jar. Well, we couldn't figure how to dispose of it safely. We worried and worried, but we were still carrying it around when we woke up. Now, folks, what should we have done with it?

And the usual scenes of gals in slacks, gals in shorts, kidlets in sun-suits and plump ladies in slender attire are to be seen up and down the streets in the village's main business section. But there's a little something lacking in the picture. We miss those sunburned youths who used to whiz around in their sports model autos with such breath-taking abandon. The old town just ain't the same without 'em. Sometimes it
